

HUD's Community Compass Technical Assistance and Capacity Building Program seeking Technical Assistance Providers

HUD is announcing the availability of approximately $80,681,000 in FY 2022 funding through its 2-year Community Compass Technical Assistance and Capacity Building Program NOFO. HUD will also award FY 2023 funds based on this single NOFO competition at funding levels comparable to FY 2022. As HUD's integrated technical assistance (TA) and capacity-building initiative, Community Compass is designed to help HUD's customers navigate complex housing and community development challenges. This initiative equips customers with the knowledge, skills, tools, capacity, and systems to implement HUD programs and policies successfully and sustainably and provide effective administrative and managerial oversight of HUD funding.

Eligible applicants for this NOFO are applying to be HUD TA Providers under the Community Compass Technical Assistance and Capacity Building Program. HUD will use qualifications and experience as a basis to assign projects under a demand-response system, and TA providers will work on projects identified by HUD with the high involvement of HUD staff. This funding is not for TA providers to work independently on firm-specific, independent projects.

HUD is seeking TA providers that will take a localized, holistic approach to technical assistance, working across sectors and building local capacity to implement HUD programs. HUD expects technical assistance providers to

- Have experience partnering with local community-based organizations to satisfy specific technical assistance assignments
- Increase local capacity
- Support equitable engagement and outcomes

If this program is of interest to or may benefit your organization, we encourage you to check out the NOFO here and review the additional resources below for more information on the Community Compass Technical Assistance and Capacity Building Program. Applications for the Community Compass Technical Assistance NOFO are due to HUD by 11:59:59 PM EST on March 28, 2023.
